Cold Spell Breaks Up Daily Routine of Practice.

CANTILLON ON HUNTING TRIP

Takes Advantage of Cloudy Weather to Go on Two-days' Shooting Expedition with Clymer, Altizer, and Pickering—Bill Kay Gets the Grip and Takes to Bed.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Galveston, Tex., March 10.—"Too cloudy and cold to practice, and just cloudy and cold enough to go shooting," manager Cantillon applied the small boy's weather philosophy to himself this afternoon and jumped away for a two days' shooting trip at a club on the lower end of Galveston island, run by an old ball player named Kappan, who can get ducks where they ain't.

As a special dispensation, Clymer, Altizer, and Pickering, all mighty men with the gun and rod, were allowed to accompany the manager. The rest of the squad was left behind in charge of Capt. Ganley, to do the usual afternoon stunt at the ball park, except that practice was somewhat curtailed for fear of colds in tender muscles.

All the sore men are rounding to form nicely. Jerry Freeman, who was the worst of the lot, still has a bad arm, but the pains are out of his back and shoulder, and a little place in the calf of the leg is the only thing that is bothering him.

Kay Has the Grip.
King Bill Kay is suffering from a return of the grip, which put him down and out for a time this winter. He went to bed last night full of hot lemonade and slept under a double allowance of blankets. To-day he is better, but was too weak to do a uniform.

Sea bathing has been temporarily stopped by the bad weather, and it is perhaps a good thing, for some of the boys were inclined to too much of it. Fishing in the surf is the popular amusement, and Falkenberg and Charley Smith are the most successful. They bribed the caretaker of a fishing pier about two hundred yards from the hotel to allow them to fish in the place, and Smith caught sixteen sleepers yesterday afternoon between the finish of practice and the ringing of the supper bell.

Charley Street's resemblance to Blankenship in his action on and off the field is a subject of much comment. He has the same lovely disposition, the same quick movements, and has it on Blank in throwing, but is not quite so fast in getting to first. The pitchers, old and young, took to Street right off the bat, and he has no trouble getting their best work.

ISSUE SEASON PASSES.

Union Club to Sell First Hundred at $10 Apiece.

The local Union League officials are rapidly getting their organization together, and with the beginning of the erection of their stands this week, the final steps have been taken.

It has been decided to place on sale 100 annual pass books at a price of $10 to the first 100 applicants, and these books will be on sale by President W. E. Harlow. The refreshment privilege at the grounds has been let, but the advertising on the fences is still open, although there are several applicants. The score card privilege is also open.

Contractor Nichols will have a force at work on the ten-foot fence around the park this week, the engineers having finished their survey yesterday. Only a small amount of grading will be necessary, and it is certain that the grounds will be in first-class shape by the 15th of April, when the team has been ordered to report for duty.

INTERIOR AFTER PLAYERS.

Will Hold Mass Meeting Sunday to Bring Out Material.

Manager Dugan reports that the team that will represent the Interior Department this season will probably be stronger than the 1906 team, which finished second to Agriculture, the District champions for that year.

Thirty odd players, among whom are quite a few ex-college stars and some of Washington's best players, have signed their intention of trying for the team. Realizing, however, that all of the teams will be greatly strengthened this year and that the race for the pennant will be close, he has sent out notices announcing a player's meeting for Sunday, March 15, 3:30 p. m., office of the Reclamation Service, Eleventh and G streets northwest, in order to get out all of the available material.

Every ball player in the Department is urgently requested to be present. Those who cannot be present please communicate with C. G. Dugan, care of the United States Reclamation Service.

REISLING FOR READING.

Veteran Pitcher and Manager Will Handle Union Club.

Reading, Pa., March 10.—The Reading baseball club of the Union League has signed for its manager this season, Dr. F. C. Reisling, who during the past season was the star pitcher of the Tri-State League. Reisling has also had several years' experience as a manager, and has won one pennant for the club of which he was manager.

Dr. Reisling was born in Martins Ferry, Ohio, in 1856, in which city he learned how to play ball with amateur ball teams. His first professional engagement, however, was with the Toronto club of the Eastern League, in 1888. In 1889 he was sold to the Hartford club of the Connecticut League. In 1890 and 1891, Reisling was the manager of the Brooklyn, Connecticut club, which won the championship of the Connecticut League. In 1892 he managed the Hartford Connecticut club, which finished third in the race of that season. In 1893 and 1894 he managed the Toledo club of the American Association.

From there he was drafted by the Brooklyn club in the fall of 1894, and pitched for the Brooklyn club in 1895. In 1896 he had some trouble in regard to salary with the Brooklyn club and jumped to the outland Tri-State League, where he played with the Lancaster club during the seasons of 1896 and 1897.

LAWSON CALLS A MEETING

Final Plans for Union League Will Be Made Wednesday.

Organization Making Active Preparations to Open Season with Flying Colors.

President Al W. Lawson, of the Union League of Professional Ball Clubs, has issued a call for a meeting of the league to be held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, Wednesday, March 18, at 10 o'clock a. m. At this meeting the final arrangements of the Union League will be completed, and a schedule adopted for the coming season.

President Lawson announces that the circuit of the Union League is now complete and ready for business. All of the clubs are well backed financially, and making preparations for a prosperous season. While the Union League is not a member of the National Association of Baseball Leagues, and is commonly termed an outlaw organization, still, President Lawson says that it is not the intention of his association to antagonize in any way organized baseball. No contract jumpers will be permitted to play in the Union League this season, although the reserve rule will not be considered when signing players.

About 130 players have already been signed by the various clubs, and applications from first-class players continue to arrive daily at Headquarters. Every club has obtained a capable, experienced, and well-known manager, and they are now busily engaged in constructing their teams for the coming season. The managers of the various clubs are as follows: Washington, Arthur Irwin; Wilmington, William Waller; Philadelphia, Walter Schleicher; Reading, Dr. F. C. Reisling; Paterson, H. Eugene McCann; Elizabeth, William Sam; Brooklyn, Ambrose Hussy; Baltimore, Sam J. Kennedy.

One of the latest players to be signed by the Union League is David Seaford, a catcher and team leader of national reputation, who has been signed by the Wilmington club as captain for the coming season. Seaford has had about ten years' experience with different leagues in the country, but he became best known as a catcher for the National League club in 1904 and 1905. Since then he has played with the Toledo club in the American Association and the Kansas City club of the Western League. Seaford also caught for three years for the New York National League club. His long experience with big league clubs will add materially to the strength of the Wilmington team.

DATES FOR TECH HIGH.

Manager Safford Has Arranged for Six Out-of-town Games.

Manager Howard Safford, of the Technical High School baseball team, has arranged what is probably the most pretentious schedule ever attempted by a local high school nine.

There will be six out-of-town games, one with each of the following teams: Washington, Episcopal High School, Mount St. Joseph's College, Maryland Agricultural College, and Baltimore City College.

In addition to the above games will be played with many fast independent teams. Manager Safford has not, as yet, been able to obtain grounds for practice and in order to insure plenty of work for the players has made a point of scheduling games preliminary to the opening of the championship series.

The prospects of the blacksmiths for the high school title this year are declared by those familiar with the material at the Rhode Island avenue school never to have been brighter. All of whom have had two or more years' experience, and should, according to Coach Smith, put forth their best efforts this year.

The players are being put through a course of sprouts each day through the school, and by the time the weather will permit them to get out in the open, it is expected the kinks will have all been worked out. The candidates are enthusiastic to a degree and are confident that Tech will make just as strong a showing at baseball this spring as the eleven did on the gridiron last fall for three years for the first time.

NEW CANDIDATES OUT.

Holy Name Nine Will Start Practice Monday, March 30.

The Holy Name baseball team will have its first practice Monday, March 30, at North Capitol and L streets. Manager Liekhtiger has arranged a hard schedule, which includes Catholic University, Galadeth, M. A. C., and all the local amateur teams.

All of last year's stars are available, with the exception of Nash, who will play third for the Penn Freshmen. Several new candidates will play the nine, namely, Brown, Goodman, Dougherty, Hollander, and Nebb. George Young, formerly of Ohio University, will coach.

New Orleans, March 10.—The racing to-day was rather tame. The programme was made up of selling events, and big fields started in each race. Favorites and second choices swept the boards, with Notter riding three of the winners.
